Executive Summary

In 2020, the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) within the Agency of Natural Resources (ANR) received a total of 3,299 incidents. The Enforcement Section of the Environmental Compliance Division (ECD) in DEC is the investigative body of DEC. In 2020, 2,240 incidents were received by ECD, and 1,059 were initiated or received by DEC programs with 563 of those being spill reports.

The primary duty of the Enforcement Section of ECD is to investigate and document any/all alleged violations of Vermont's environmental permits, rules, regulations, and statutes that are under the jurisdiction of DEC. ECD's Enforcement Section is staffed by a Director, Chief Environmental Enforcement Officer (CEEO), and Administrative Services Coordinator located in Montpelier and seven Environmental Enforcement Officers (EEOs) located within designated geographical districts throughout the state.

The total costs of the administering the Environmental Compliance Division's Enforcement Section in fiscal year 2020 were $1,274,419.

In 2020, ECD closed 1,870 incidents. Of these, 1,339 or 72% were closed with no violation being found. Of the 531 incidents closed with a violation found, 75% were closed as minor violations with voluntary compliance being achieved. This highlights the benefit of ECD's eight EEOs investigating incidents to determine if a violation exists and the positive outcomes EEOs generate during face-to-face communications with citizens to remedy violations.

ANR's Enforcement and Litigation Section is housed within ANR's Office of General Counsel (OGC). The legal staff in this section handle formal enforcement that begins when an investigation ends and includes brokering settlement agreements and representing ANR in court proceedings related to formal enforcement actions. ECD and OGC work closely to bring cases identified by EEOs or DEC media program staff to legal resolution.

In 2020, ANR used formal enforcement methods in 30 cases through the issuance of civil citations, Administrative Orders, or Assurances of Discontinuances. The cases resulted in $183,236.00 in penalties assessed for the year to be directed to the general fund.

Key Takeaways

DEC continues to see an increase in the number of incidents received each year. In 2020, we saw a drastic increase in incidents received – 431 more than 2019 resulting in a 15% increase total.

The increase in incidents received was compounded by changing response options due to the coronavirus (COVID-19). DEC took additional safety precautions to protect citizen and staff health.

Incidents Received by Year. ECD data is presented since 2010. Note: Although the tracking breakout of ECD and program incidents began in 2018, incidents involving ECD and individual programs occurred prior to 2018.

Data Trends

In 2020, the most common categories of incidents received are presented in figure below.

Collaboration with the Attorney General's Office (AGO)

ANR continues to work closely and effectively with the AGO, meeting with them quarterly. ANR provides information on new cases to the AGO on a weekly basis. The MOU between the two organizations is reviewed annually to ensure its continued effectiveness.

During 2020, ANR referred eleven enforcement cases to the AGO. Six ANR-referred cases were closed by the AGO during the year.
